

As an alumna of Edgefield, I can confidently say that Edgefield provides an excellent environment for learning and personal growth. The best part about Edgefield is her dedicated and caring teachers. Through my journey as an Edgefielder, I developed close bonds with many of my teachers, who not only helped me to excel academically, but also nurtured good values in me. They also showed great concern for my well-being. Edgefield also provides many unique programmes such as Challenge-Based Learning (CBL), which has helped prepare me for the A-level Project Work. The teamwork required in CBL also helped me develop good communication skills, a definite advantage in the Team Based Learning (TBL) system at the Lee Kong Chian School of Medicine where I currently study. Edgefield's wide range of subjects also allowed me to develop my interest in the sciences and laid the foundation for my future learning. In addition, Edgefield offers a great range of CCAs, some of which do indeed cultivate one's passions and interests. My CCA (Guzheng Ensemble) in Edgefield allowed further development of my interest in music as professional instructors facilitated our learning. This gave me the opportunity to continue Guzheng as a passion beyond secondary school at the Guzheng Association (Singapore).

I'm proud to be an Edgefielder and I'm thankful to Edgefield for giving me many invaluable opportunities to achieve and excel!

Zhai Chenlu

Class of 2016

First year, Lee Kong Chian School of Medicine, Nanyang
Technological University (NTU)