

I am proud to be part of the pioneer batch of students from Edgefield Secondary. I opted for Edgefield then because it was a brand new school and I was interested in the exciting possibilities I could explore.

While studying at Edgefield, I was given the opportunity to explore interests inside and outside of school. Since childhood, I had an interest in aviation and aspired to become a Pilot. Despite having commitments in the form of 2 school CCAs (Golf & Shooting), Edgefield encouraged my interest in aviation by enabling me to join the Singapore Youth Flying Club (SYFC) outside school hours. With the support of the school, I was able to deepen my interest and reach new heights. I was honoured to represent Singapore in an overseas aeromodelling competition in Secondary 4 and at two world championships in 2016 & 2018. During my time in Junior College, I managed to attain my Private Pilot's License with SYFC and after enlistment, I decided to sign on as a Pilot with The Republic of Singapore Air Force (RSAF).

I believe that Edgefield has played a huge role in forming the foundations of my journey to becoming a Pilot. The support of the school helped me to pursue my interest freely and without worry. Being given to opportunity to be the first Captain of the shooting club also helped to shape my leadership journey towards becoming an officer in the RSAF.

I am currently a handful of flights away from being Winged as an Air Force Pilot, and I truly believe that Edgefield significantly influenced my journey in helping me realise my aspirations.
